Keynote Session: Four Critical Decisions
Kenn Kington

With his work, Kenn has met and worked with some of the most successful people in every walk of life. This has been an unexpected education. Working with and around these leaders, he noticed some common threads. It wasn't talent or ability or even opportunity that generated their achievements. In conversations, he would ask simple questions, and the answers from these amazing people were stunning. They always had a story and a simple commonality: they not only found success in their profession but an uncommon balance in life and overcoming everyday challenges. He also noticed two wonderful things. These successful people made decisions that the average person simply does not make, decisions which fell into four basic categories. Further, when applied, these decisions work every time!

Discover the Four Critical Decisions successful people make and begin experiencing the balance and fulfillment life was meant to be.

- 9:15 am – 10:15 am The Pandemic is Not Yet Over! A Discussion on COVID-19 in the Construction Workplace
Philip Siegel, Esq., Hendrick, Phillips, Salzman & Siegel, P.C.
During this one-hour session, we will discuss timely concerns with COVID-19 in the workplace, including a discussion on whether companies can implement a policy requiring the COVID-19 vaccination as a condition of employment, a discussion on applicable safety standards addressing the COVID-19 hazard in the workplace, and a discussion on contractual provisions that provide protection from COVID-19 related liabilities. The session also covers whether COVID-19 in the workplace is subject to worker's compensation benefits, and whether instances of COVID-19 in the workplace are recordable under OSHA recordkeeping requirements.
- 10:15 am – 10:30 am Break
Sponsored by TBD
- 10:30 am – 11:30 am Challenges Associated with Building Code Enforcement
Tim Ryan, International Association of Building Code Officials
As a code official and active code development participant, Tim sees firestopping and effective compartmentation from a different perspective. This program focuses on how the code official approves firestop special inspection agencies, inspectors, and how much detail goes into firestopping at the jurisdictional level. He also will address jurisdiction code requirement differences, what happens when constructability issues arise in the field, documentation needed, and liability associated with this age-old comment – 'the inspector passed it', all from a code official's perspective.
- 11:30 am – 12:30 pm The Post (?) Pandemic Outlook for Construction
Ken Simonsen, AGC's Chief Economist
What happened in 2020? What did/will contractors do as a result of COVID-19? What is the construction economy going to do in 2021 and beyond? Who will be building or renovating buildings in the Post-COVID 19? What type of buildings? Public? Private? Commercial, Industrial, Institutional, Multifamily? Single Family? What regions? Will building owners have money to maintain protection in buildings? Don't miss this look inside the construction economy 'crystal ball'.

Hospitals, ASHE, TJC, Fire-Resistance & Firestopping

Jonathan Flannery, MHSA, FASHE, FACHE, American Society for Health Care Engineering (ASHE)

We welcome back Jonathan Flannery, ASHE's Sr. Associate Director, Advocacy, to FCIA's ECA Conference. In this program, Jonathan provides insight into The Joint Commission activities and fire resistance violations found during audits. Learn what's going on in the hospital environment as a result of the COVID 19 pandemic. Are there financial repercussions from the pandemic? Are government grants coming to hospitals for physical plant work? Are there new rules for infection control, germ resistant assemblies? What about new contractor and in-house personnel restrictions/rules when working in post-COVID 19 facilities? Jonathan always brings a program chock full of facts and future forecasts about these topics and more that we all can learn from.

A GC's Perspective on Firestopping

Corey Zussman, Pepper Construction

Corey returns to FCIA to cover new topics. This time, we'll unravel how to get firestopping 'constructability' accomplished on a new construction project. We'll look at typical GC concerns with our firestopping industry, legal issues if specifications are not followed that require FM 4991 or UL Contractors, a GC's view on firestop special inspections, and the effect it is having on projects. Plus, he'll cover what our industry needs to do to have a Specialty Firestop Installation Contractor on projects all the time. Don't miss this.

Salons 2 & 3

- 7:30 am – 9:30 am Conference Registration Open
- 7:30 am – 9:00 am FCIA Continental Breakfast
Sponsored by TBD
- 8:00 am – 9:00 am A Look at the 2024 Code Cycle and Proposals
Bill Koffel, P.E., FSPE, Koffel Associates, FCIA's Code Consultant
The International Building Code is a model building code developed by the International Code Council. The IBC is intended to protect public health and safety while avoiding both unnecessary costs and preferential treatment of specific materials or methods of construction. Getting a code proposal drafted, submitted, and passed is a long and detailed process, but one that FCIA has navigated successfully. Attend this session for a look at the FCIA code proposals, as well as others, for the current 2024 International Building Code development cycle.
- 9:00 am – 10:00 am Fire Dampers, Fire/Smoke Dampers, Ceiling/Radiation Dampers
Kent Maune, RUSKIN
Kent shares his 35 years of Damper development, testing, and field application of these important items that keep fire (and smoke) contained. There are new developments with remote inspection technologies. Plus, Kent covers some of the key issues missed in the field with fire, smoke, and ceiling radiation dampers. Don't miss this program on key Fire and Smoke Damper technical, inspection, and maintenance issues.
- 10:00 am – 11:00 am Center for Campus Fire Safety
Justin Daniels, Oklahoma University and Center for Campus Fire Safety
Join Justin to learn more about the role of the fire-marshal/emergency operations personnel at the college/university campus. What about fire-resistance-rated and smoke-resistant assemblies on campus? What codes apply to these institutions? What perspectives does this industry have for the Barrier Management Services Contractor? Don't miss hearing about how the Center for Campus Fire Safety helps keep people safe through their association initiatives.
- 11:00 am – 11:30 am Closing Remarks
Bill McHugh, FCIA Executive Director | Ben Urcavich, FCIA 2020 President
- 11:30 am FCIA Education & Committee Action Conference Ends

Plan to attend FIC '21, FCIA's Firestop Industry Conference & Trade Show, at Rancho Bernardo Inn in San Diego, CA November 2-5, 2021!

If everyone at FCIA educates someone about what firestopping and effective compartmentation is – and the importance of our industry – we'll make a difference in the demand for safe buildings delivered by FCIA Members.

"There are many opportunities for you to jump into our story; a story that is being written about the growth and development of the firestopping & fire and life safety industry."

Ben Urcavich, 2020-21 FCIA President
